BURKE TO FIGHT MURDER CHARGE, HE SAID TODAY

Demands A Preliminary Hearing When Taken Into J. P. Court

St. Joseph, Mich., Mar. 30—(AP)—Fred Burke began a determined fight against life imprisonment for murder today, refusing to waive examination when arraigned for the killing of Charles Skalay, St. Joseph policeman.

He was held for examination April 8 before Justice of the Peace Joseph Collier.

The big gunman, called the nation's most desperate killer, was seen today as usual and kept his shifting brown eyes averted from photographers. His arraignment took place in a tiny ante-room of the county jail, where only a handful of officers, cameramen and three or four newspaper reporters were admitted.

Burke indicated he would plead not guilty at his April 8 appearance, then lapsed into stolid silence. Prosecutor Wilbur Cunningham, his assistant and the sheriff went into conference with Burke after the ten-minute hearing before Justice Collier, but they said afterwards they could not induce the prisoner to talk. He said he would have an attorney here by tomorrow. Burke seemed tired, but said he had been well treated.

Lawyer Sees Him

Barratt O'Hara, Chicago lawyer who defended Virgil Kirkland in his trial for the murder of his Gary schoolgirl sweetheart, visited Burke for a few moments today. Burke made no comment, however, except to say he will have an attorney Tuesday.

Chicago detectives having yielded to Michigan's claim after failing to get Burke to talk about the Moran gang massacre of which he is suspected, apparently abandoned interest in him. They did not follow the armored car into St. Joseph last night. New York police telegraphed that detectives would arrive from their city at noon today to question Burke about the murder of Frank Tate.

Burke's first "trial" will probably be before a "kangaroo court" of his fellow prisoners, who said they are looking forward to the usual mock tribunal at which they arraign the new prisoner for breaking into the jail.

Justice Collier, who presides at both preliminary hearings of Burke, has been a justice 13 years and in practice here since 1905. He was a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School in 1902.

On his admittance to the county jail Burke gave his name as Fred Burke—he had been known as Fred Dane when a resident here; his age 45; weight 220; height 5 feet 11½ inches; birthplace St. Louis and residence Kansas.

Announced Fight

"I'm going to fight this case," he declared almost immediately after he had been brought here in a bullet-proof armored car from St. Joseph, Mo., by an attorney already engaged and another in Chicago to handle the case," he said.

Ignoring a blinding sleet storm thousands of St. Joseph citizens crowded before the jail to see the return of the notorious gunman, who is wanted in Chicago for the St. Valentine Day massacre of seven George (Bugs) Moran gangsters and for a score of other major crimes throughout the country. There was no demonstration, however, but there was a note of fear in Burke who recalled the threats to lynch him at the time of the Skalay killing.

Burke was assured later that the crowd had dispersed and he was calm when Skalay's father, Fred Skalay, and the slain traffic policeman's widow, Mrs. Max Moulds, who has since remarried, went to view him in the jail's strongest cell. Meanwhile extra guards assembled outside to forestall any attempt to escape.

Burke's trial, officials said, likely would not start until the May term of court. Meanwhile the state already has three witnesses prepared to testify against him.

Ask Removal Edgar Masters' Quotation

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(UP)—Removal of an inscription from the tombstone of Ann Rutledge that was written by Oscar Lee Masters will be considered by the Lincoln Memorial Commission when it holds its next meeting here. According to Representative Elbert Waller Republican, "Tombstone."

"Some students of Lincoln believe the stone either should be replaced or the inscription removed, especially since Masters' criticism of Lincoln was published," Waller said.

No date for the next commission meeting has been set, but it is probable that a meeting will be called within the next few weeks for the purpose of preparing a report to be presented to the present session of the General Assembly.

State Urged To Buy Only Illinois-Made Cement

REPLENISHMENT OF STOCKS WILL HELP BUSINESS

Leading Economist Of Government Foresees Change

By THOMAS L. STOKES.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, March 30—(UP)—Large scale buying by retailers in the near future to replenish stocks depleted during the depression is foreseen by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce.

This buying will tend to speed up business recovery by reviving production all along the line. Millions of dollars are expected to be thrown into the market by retail merchants of all classes.

Klein, formerly head of the Department's Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce and long recognized as one of the country's leading economists, outlined the present situation today in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

He pointed out, among other factors, that figures indicate lower stock inventories now than at any time since the early part of 1922. There is one major difference in the situation then and now, however. While stock were low at that time, the country's previous period of depression, sales also were low. The sale index now, however, is very high.

Buying to replenish stocks already is being noted in several lines, among them the shoe industry.

Approximately a billion dollars worth of construction of all sorts has been undertaken since December 1 throughout the country, according to reports to Arthur Woods, Chairman of President Hoover's Emergency Unemployment Committee.

Figures stood today at $967,692,000. Woods could make no estimate of the number of men employed on these projects, but said it was figured about 80 per cent of the cost goes for labor, including labor for manufacturing building materials.

The chairman said there is a general movement throughout the country for establishment of community gardens to provide work and food for the unemployed. Women are taking an active part in these programs, which include beautification campaigns for improvement of private grounds.

Establishment of the five-day week in building trades in various centers, with active campaigns for its extension elsewhere, was reported to Woods by agents in various parts of the country.

Conditions generally in the country were spotty, with increase of employment in some sections and no improvement in others. There was still considerable unemployment among "white collar" workers.

Triple Tragedy Is Result Of Debauch

Rochester, N. Y., Mar. 30—(AP)—His hopes of a "comeback" in the stock market apparently abandoned after a night of writing despair at the loss of his home, Fred O. Morse, 65, shot and killed his wife and brother-in-law, and then turned the revolver on himself, according to police reconstruction of the triple tragedy today.

The bodies of Mrs. May Morse, 61, her brother Loren G. Cushman, 59, and her husband were found yesterday, more than forty hours after the shootings.

Police said positions of the bodies and a revolver near Morse indicated he had slain his wife and her brother and then killed himself.

Cut Through Heavy Snow Near Freeport

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—State roads in the northern part of Illinois, blocked by last week's snowfall, are open to one-way traffic, Fred Tarrant, Engineer of Maintenance, announced today.

Major blockades occurred near Freeport, where there were drifts 12 feet deep in some instances. Snowfall in that vicinity averages one foot in depth.

The routes open to one-way traffic are as follows: Route 5, Freeport west; route 26, between Forreston and Freeport; route 74 from Freeport to state line; route 75, from Rockton to Freeport; route 27, from Polo to Mt. Carroll.

Extradition Two To Wis. Delayed

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(UP)—A supersedeas granted by Justice Frederic R. DeYoung staying the extradition to Wisconsin of Danny Stanton and Edgar Smith, charged with the murder of Jack Zuta, alleged Chicago gunman, was filed in the state Supreme Court today.

The action will stay extradition of the two pending a review of habeas corpus proceedings in Cook county Criminal Court in which a writ of habeas corpus was dismissed.

Governor L. L. Emmerson honored a requisition for return of the pair, October 17, of last year.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE, HOTEL IN CHICAGO ROBBED

Sunday Visit To Former Netted Seven Burglars $50,000

Chicago, March 30—(AP)—A bandit crew of ten men invaded a Gold Coast hotel early today, robbed one guest of $1,300 in cash and a $2,500 diamond ring, and a number of signed blank checks, slugged another guest, rounded up five employees and a Lincoln Park policeman, from whom they took a revolver and badge, and escaped.

The gang fled in two automobiles after gaining to their loot by taking $125 from a cash drawer.

Taking possession of the Wiesbold department south side store for almost eight hours, seven gunmen, equipped with elaborate burglar tools, yesterday robbed the store's safe of $35,000 in cash and $15,000 in checks and escaped.

The men, who had apparently spent the night in some secluded room, stalked in on Christ Swanson, the engineer, at 6 A. M., yesterday. They tied him to a chair. Then they located Henry McVey, the watchman.

"You're going to pull the alarm boxes as usual," they told him. "If you pull 'em wrong and the police come, we'll know you're the cause. The first bullet will be for you."

With that, a part of the gang went off to the office of the store. While some guarded the watchman and engineer, others planted nitroglycerine in the vault doors, and still others obtained expensive rugs to muffle the explosion.

It was the second Wiesbold store to be robbed since the first of the year. On January 26 five bandits obtained $19,200, engaged in a pistol duel with policemen, and escaped.

TEXAS GUINAN ROBBED

New York, March 30—(UP)—While Texas Guinan, night club hostess was busy furnishing her clientele with entertainment early today burglars climbed the fire escape outside her Eighth Street apartment and ransacked it.

Miss Guinan was still busy several hours later trying to learn how much had been stolen. Various estimates placed her loss as high as $15,000. Police estimated, however, that her loss would not exceed $5,000. A diamond-encrusted honorary police badge and pin, were the most valuable of the missing articles.

Among her missing possessions was a green gold watch bag which the hostess said had been given her by the late Ella Wendell, millionaire spinster reclusive, as a memento after Miss Wendell had visited one of the Guinan night clubs. Attorneys for the Wendell estate denied Miss Wendell had ever made such a visit.

The hostess said a Chicago racketeer had appeared last Monday at her dressing room in a Brooklyn theater and tried to extort $500 from her under threat of kidnaping. Since then, she said, she has had a police guard. The police department, however, had no record of any guard assigned to her.

Treasury Deficit $592,000,000 Today

Washington, Mar. 30—(UP)—Income tax collections for the month through March 27 totaled $329,116,991, today's Treasury statement showed. Last year the month's total up to the corresponding day was $549,960,217.

Daily returns dwindled to $1,851,000 on March 27. Only four days collections remain, so that the total probably will not run behind $340,000,000 for the month and probably less.

Federal Reserve Banks today received subscriptions for an issue of 90 day bills, which the Treasury announced several days ago for the purpose of raising $100,000,000 to pay immediate obligations, principally payments on veterans bonus loans.

The Treasury deficit stood today at $592,000,000.

Mistakes Wife For Robber: Kills Her

Memphis, Tenn., Mar. 30—(UP)—J. L. Pratt, grocery store owner, was awakened early today by some one entering the sleeping quarters in the rear of his store. He lifted a gun from beside the bed and fired three shots.

He turned on the light. The body of his wife, Edith, lay on the floor. She died before an ambulance arrived.

"God forgive me for being so quick to shoot," Pratt said to police. "But we've had prowlers around lately." It was believed Mrs. Pratt had gone into the store to investigate a noise, and then had sought to return quietly to bed without awakening her husband.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

The original petition when filed contained 855 signatures, 730 of which are said to be necessary to make it legal.

CAR TOOK TO DITCH.

A car belonging to Tom Peters of Rockford, formerly of this city, was considerably damaged last evening about 8 o'clock on the Lincoln Highway about seven miles east of Dixon. The car was driven into a ditch, several of the windows being broken and the car being wrecked generally but the driver escaped serious injury. Sheriff Richardson was called to the scene and the wrecked machine later was towed to a Rochelle garage.

Pilot Reinhardt Snell of the Dixon municipal airport and David Barton flew from Dixon to Moline this morning in the Snell plane and are returning this afternoon. Pilot Snell is leaving his plane at Moline to undergo a general overhauling and will bring the new Monocoupe cabin plane, purchased last week by members of the Dixon Glider Club to the airport where it will go into immediate service as a training ship for fliers who have finished their series of instructions in the handling of the glider.

Youthful Robber Took His Own Life

Carlinville, Ill., Mar. 30—(UP)—Belief that Isaac Ford, 24, who is alleged to have held up a filling station in Upper Alton Saturday set fire to his car and then killed himself rather than be captured was expressed by authorities here today following finding of Ford's body in the ruins of his car late Saturday.

His revolver with two bullets discharged were found near his body. Ford, according to police, held up a station owned by John Yancey who fired twice at the bandit as the latter fled with loot totaling ten dollars. Yancey notified Alton police who pursued the bandit through Madison and Macoupin counties.

Saturday afternoon a farmer reported a coupe burning near Brighton in this county. Police investigated and found Ford's body. Examination disclosed he had been shot four times. Twice it was believed by Yarnell and twice by himself.

Details of Father Tierney's capture received at his Shanghai headquarters indicated that he was subjected to brutal treatment from the day he fell into bandit hands.

LaSalle, Oglesby, Peru Business Men Call On Governor

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 30—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson received a delegation of 50 business men from the LaSalle county tri-city group, Oglesby, LaSalle and Peru, today and heard a plea that the state purchase cement for its hard road construction from the four mills within the borders of the state.

The delegation, headed by the mayors of the three cities, Charles Spurr, Oglesby; Frank Bryzot, LaSalle and Al Hasse, Peru, appeared at the Governor's office this morning but he was unable to hear the petition until this afternoon. The delegation was supported by Senator N. M. Mason, Republican, Oglesby, and Representatives Ole Benson, Republican, Ottawa; Edmund P. Connerton, Democrat, LaSalle, and E. G. Soderstrom, Republican, Streator.

7000 Sign Petition

The Governor was presented with a petition signed by 7000 LaSalle county business men, pointing out the necessity that the state place its 1931 cement contracts with Illinois plants as a means of forestalling a marked increase in unemployment and curtailing the industrial operations in the tri-city district.

The Department of Public Works and Buildings, which last week received bids for furnishing the state with 5,000,000 barrels of cement has announced that contracts would not be awarded until a careful analysis of all bids received had been made.

For 600,000 barrels of cement to be used in 48 southern counties, the Lone Star Cement Company, Limited, was announced as low bidder. For the remaining 4,400,000 barrels the price quoted by all bidders was uniform, the other bidders including four mills operated within the state—the Marquette, Lehigh nad Alpha, in the tri-city district, and the Medusa plant at Dixon. At a former bidding on the same contracts, the Marquette concern was low, but the state department rejected all bids.

Catholic Missionary Murdered By Bandits

Shanghai, Mar. 30—(AP)—Word has been received here by the St. Columban's Mission of the death, March 5, of Father Superior Tierney of the Kiencheng mission while a captive of Chinese Communists. While details of his death were not learned the bandits frequently had said they would kill him if ransom money of $40,000 (silver) were not immediately forthcoming.

In a letter which he contrived to smuggle through his captors some weeks ago, he wrote that he was failing and that he was "quite ready to die."

Father Tierney, Superior of St. Columban's Mission, at Kiencheng, a small interior city located southeast of Nanchang in the South China Province of Kiangsi, was captured last Nov. 17. British authorities made strong representations to the Chinese government in an effort to obtain his release, but with the bandits hidden in the wild mountain regions of Kiangsi, all attempts of soldier detachments to reach them failed.

Details of Father Tierney's capture received at his Shanghai headquarters indicated that he was subjected to brutal treatment from the day he fell into bandit hands.

Robinson's confession failed, officers said, to confirm in several major details the facts of the killing in Villisca, Iowa, on the night of June 9, 1912, of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore, their four children and two daughters of Joe Stillinger, who were visiting in the home.

The most glaring discrepancy was that Robinson said he killed only six persons, members of the Moore family. The crime did not have the appearance of having been committed by a hired killer, the officers also pointed out, and Robinson said he received $2,000 of a promised $5,000 from a stranger for it. Several other details were being checked.

Robinson faces life imprisonment in Michigan under the habitual criminal act. He was caught in a suburban home and was convicted of burglary on February 18. Police said he had four previous convictions in various places.

McAdoo Junior Held In Drunkenness Case

Beverly Hills, Cal., Mar. 30—(AP)—William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., son of the former Secretary of the Treasury, faced arraignment here today on charges of intoxication and peace disturbance.

McAdoo, who is an oil promoter, and John W. Montgomery, a salesman, were arrested Saturday night in an argument with a taxicab driver over a $1.35 fare. McAdoo said he had no money and was trying to induce the driver to cash a check when somebody called the police.

McAdoo and Montgomery whom he declared he had met but an hour before, were released on bonds of $120 each.

"It is a very regrettable incident," McAdoo said.

Six Negroes Shoot Up Black Belt Cafe

Chicago, March 30—(UP)—Six Negroes in an automobile created confusion in Chicago's black belt today when they twice poured shots into windows of the Panama Inn. Jesse Olson, 37, a laborer, was wounded in the neck as he waited for a street car in front of the cafe.

During the first visit to the place, the gang was routed at the approach of policemen. They returned later and fired more shots, one of which struck Olson.

Police were unable to learn the cause of the attack.

FEDERAL AGENTS DIRECT DRY RAIDS IN WHITESIDE CO.

Met South Of Dixon To Organize: Nine Are Under Arrest

Meeting two miles south of Dixon at about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon to organize into nine groups, each under the direction of a Federal prohibition officer, a party of about forty Federal and Whiteside county officers and bank guards from that county, swept down on Sterling, Morrison, Erie and Lyndon late in the afternoon in a series of simultaneous liquor raids which resulted in the arrest of nine alleged violators of the Federal prohibition laws.

The Federal officers, under the direction of Arthur Hamilton, former sheriff of Whiteside county and now federal prohibition supervisor for the Northern Illinois district, and C. Edson Smith of Chicago, special prohibition agent, were assisted by Sheriff P. C. Whitney and Deputies Lynn A. Graves, Roy Crook and Bert Byam of Whiteside county and twenty home guards. The Sterling police were not asked to assist.

Nine Arrested

Those taken in the raids on warrants sworn out before County Judge Harry Ludens of Morrison were: John Burrows, Mary Lauri, Mrs. Pearl Gleason, Ciclio Gonales and Mrs. Priscilla Ridott of Sterling; Andrew Daglas, proprietor of a road house near Idlewood, between Sterling and Morrison; August Senn and Son Elwood of Lyndon and Joe Sligher of Erie. The latter was brought to Dixon and lodged in jail before being taken to Freeport where he gave bonds of $1500 before U. S. Commissioner Stanley Vance. Burrows was also taken before the Freeport commissioner to give bonds, while the others furnished bail before Judge Ludens.

MURDER OF SIX IOWANS 19 YEARS AGO CONFESSED

Alleged Slayer Is Held In Detroit Jail: Escape Plot Nipped

Detroit, Mar. 30—(AP)—Leroy Robinson, alias George Meyers, who was discovered to be the leader of an escape plot shortly after he had confessed a 19-year-old Iowa axe murder, was in solitary confinement in the Wayne county jail today while Detroit and Iowa authorities continued to check his confession.

Robinson's escape plot was discovered yesterday. Sheriff Henry Behrendt and his assistants at the jail found that bars of an outside window of the cell block on the fifth floor in which he was held had been sawed. A rope and steel bars were found in Robinson's cell. A saw was found in his clothing.

Sheriff Behrendt said twelve other prisoners were in the plot and told him Robinson was the leader and threatened to kill them if they did not join in the escape.

Robinson's confession failed, officers said, to confirm in several major details the facts of the killing in Villisca, Iowa, on the night of June 9, 1912, of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moore, their four children and two daughters of Joe Stillinger, who were visiting in the home.

Ex-Convict Sought For Jealousy Crime

Centralla, Mar. 30—(AP)—Kenneth Wilderman, 32, of Centralla, an ex-convict, is being sought by police to connect in connection with the slaying here last night of Bland Williamson, 24, a railroad switchman.

Wilderman is alleged to have shot Williamson during an altercation at the home here of Mrs. Millie Blanks, 35, a widow. Both men, police said, had been attentive to Mrs. Blanks and jealousy is believed to have prompted the quarrel.

Williamson staggered to the home of his cousin a block away following the shooting but died while being rushed to the hospital.

Mrs. Blanks is being held by police for questioning. Her daughter, Mildred Blanks, an eye witness to the shooting, is expected to testify at the inquest today.

Americans Active In India Congress

London, Mar. 30—(UP)—Reports of activities of two Americans at the All-Indian National Congress at Karachi, where they were said to have entered actively into the independence movement in support of Mahatma Gandhi, were viewed calmly by the India Office today.

The Americans were named as Carleton W. Washburne, prominent Illinois educator, and Boyd Tucker of Mansfield, O.

"The activities of Washburne and Tucker never have been reported to us," it was said at the India Office. "They would not be interfered with unless their activities were actually seditious. Neither would they suffer interference if their activities were merely in support of the legal activities of the Congress."

STATE NEARING END IN LINGLE MURDER TRIAL

Ballistics Expert Was Most Important Witness During Day

Criminal Court Building, Chicago, March 30—(AP)—Attorneys defending Leo Brothers in his murder trial announced today they would attempt to introduce evidence that Frank Marco, who has since been killed in New York, was once considered by police the "chief suspect" in the Alfred Lingle murder.

As the state was putting on its last witnesses, the defense subpoenaed Lieutenant Walters Storms and Captain John Stege and revealed that the police officers would be asked about other suspects to the Lingle slaying, principally Marco, a former chauffeur to Julian "Potatoes" Kaufman.

Kaufman's name was mentioned prominently in the Lingle case because he owned a night club allegedly closed by orders of Lingle, who was a close friend and adviser of the then Police Commissioner, William Russell.

Examined Cop's Head

The first witness today was Dr. M. A. Frankebecker, an X-ray specialist who gave technical testimony concerning an examination of the head of Officer Anthony Ruffy.

Ruffy was the witness who told the court Friday that he was chasing a "vision" as well as a man immediately after the Lingle slaying and who said that when he identified Frank Foster as another Lingle suspect, his mind was a blank.

The state has several witnesses who are expected to testify that Ruffy has been mentally unbalanced for years, but the defense will attempt to prove that Ruffy's testimony was merely an "act" to throw out his previous identification of Foster.

Asked whether Brothers would take the stand in his own defense Attorney Tyrrell Krum would not say definitely, but answered "it would look funny if he didn't at least get up and say 'I didn't do it.'"

Dr. Frankebecker testified he examined Officer Ruffy March 16 and found an "old" fracture of the skull. Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert and head of the Crime Detection Laboratory of Northwestern University, was the next witness.

Colonel Goddard told of examining the bullet that killed Lingle and comparing it with another bullet fired from the pistol found near Lingle's body.

The ballistics expert said that from the markings on the two bullets he was able to determine that the bullet taken from Lingle's brain was fired from the weapon that is now state's exhibit number two.

This point was considered important because one of the state witnesses, Clark Applegate, Kentucky race horse trainer, testified that he saw Brothers throw a gun near the body of the slain reporter. Although he left soon after the shooting and was unable to say positively that it was the same weapon now in evidence in this case, Applegate said it was the same type and looked exactly like the pistol he saw.

TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS

King Corn Is Dead: Long Live The King

Chicago, Mar. 30.—(AP)—King corn is dead! Long live the king. Wheat was shoved back into the cereal throne today in the Chicago Board of Trade after being deposed by the native maize nearly three months ago.

The Federal Farm Board's decision to keep "hands off" after the 1930 wheat crop is marketed ended corn's brief dynasty and once more placed wheat trading in the gik pit.

Early last Monday, before the Farm Board's week-end decision had reached over the vast trading hall, the trade, lying dormant during the government's stabilization of the 1930 crop, eagerly bounced into the wheat pit again.

The futures sale of that way gave a "phibic evidence of wheat" resurging tide, viz:

Monday—30,718,000 bushels; a week ago—11,876,000 bushels; a year ago—37,609,000.

Overnight, the trade had boomed sales to the leadership of old. For the first time since the Grain Stabilization Corporation set to stabilizing price wheat sales passed corn.

To the trade, it was "independence week"—signaling the trade's ascendancy once more to control of sales. For the week, total sales were 119,393,000 bushels—compared to 63,679,000 bushels the previous week.

After last November's Farm Board stabilizing price from March and May wheat was set, the traders settled into an attitude of watchfulness and aloofness. Wheat sales dropped to rock bottom overnight.

The big pit was silent much of the day. The corn trading, instead, became the scene of activity. On Jan. 7, the Board of Trade chose corn as the leader and put it into the big pit.

The traders, jubilant once more, were still aware of the Farm Board's existence, however. To protect its millions of bushels, the Grain Stabilization Corporation announced its set price for May wheat would continue to the end of June.

DEATH CAME TO TWO ON EVE OF ACHIEVEMENTS

Doctor And Novelist Stricken As Great Work Nears End

Shanghai, Mar. 30.—(AP)—Dr. John Anderson, formerly of the London School of Tropical Medicine, died here today after an operation, just when he believed himself to be on the threshold of a crowning achievement in his research into cerebro spinal meningitis.

It was understood that he succeeded a few days ago in isolating the meningitis germ.

New York, Mar. 30.—(AP)—Dr. George A. Dorsey died of an embolism last night an hour after he received from his secretary the last sheets of the final revision of what he considered the greatest literary work of his career. He was 63 years old.

He was the author of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," and equally well-known as an anthropologist.

His last book, "On Civilization," is to be published in the fall.

No illness had been noticeable to Dr. Dorsey's family or friends. He collapsed while dressing in preparation for a weekly radio address.

Before his literary success he taught anthropology at Harvard and the University of Chicago, and was Curator of the Field Museum at Chicago. In the war he was a Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve.

In 1918 he became Assistant Naval Attache at Madrid and later Naval Attache at Lisbon.

which he said had been turned over to him as the "Alfred Lingle fatal bullet" and another that he said he fired into a basket of waste to make the comparison. They became a part of the court record as state's exhibits.

Without raising his voice or indicating in any way that he had reached the point of his testimony, Colonel Goddard said "from these tests I concluded that both bullets had been fired through the same arm."

On cross examination, Col. Goddard said every bullet proved slightly different from every other on careful microscopic inspection.

"Then bullet number two would very from bullet number one?" he was asked.

"In slight measure, yes."

"Ballistics is not 100 per cent perfect, is it?" asked defense Attorney Harry Cantwell.

"Everything is subject to error" said the witness.

On re-direct examination, Assistant State Attorney Wayland Brooks asked but one question: "It was your opinion that the bullet marked people's exhibit number five was fired from the weapon marked people's exhibit number two?"

"It was," replied Colonel Goddard. "But your opinion is subject to error?" asked Attorney Cantwell. The state objected that the witness had already answered the question, and the ballistics expert was excused.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

W HEN snow lies white on mountain height
And winter stalks by hill and glen,
The merry dancers of the night
Are at their joyous jigs again;

In silver radiance is spread,
With sound of waters on the shore
And star-shine winking overhead.

In green and blue of rainbow hue,
And red and yellow, clear as flame,
Their footsteps fall as light as dew,
These merry sprites without a name!
And to and fro they whirling go,
And tread their measures, gay and free;
But whence they come shall no man know,
And whence they vanish no man see!

Elizabeth Fleming.

COLOR PIANO MAY FURNISH DANCE ACCOMPANIMENTS

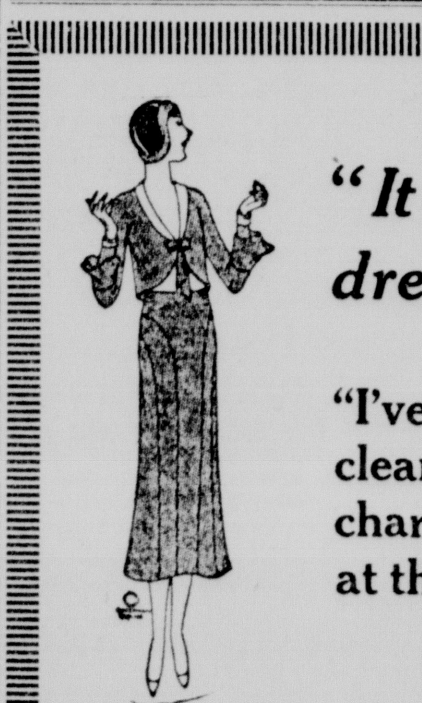

Madison, Wis. —(UP)—Dancing to a sonata of colored light directed from a piano keyboard soon may be effected here when Prof. William H. Varnum, chairman of the University of Wisconsin department of art education, completes his "color" piano. Varnum plans to get sound and color well acquainted with each other by playing a special score on his "color" piano along with a second musical score on a normal instrument. Every key on his piano will be wired to a colored light. Perfect harmony of sound and light will result from the two-piano sonata, he maintains.

Music Dept. of Club Presented Program

On Saturday afternoon the music department of the Dixon Woman's club of which Mrs. L. M. Davies is chairman, presented two Chicago artists, Miss Ilsa Forster, soprano and Miss Margaret Bluthardt, accompanist.

The program was opened by Miss Forster singing a group of children's songs by Liza Lehman. Miss Forster does a great deal of singing before groups of children and her evident enjoyment of these charming miniatures coupled with her unaffected manner would undoubtedly make a strong appeal to youthful audiences. The group of folk songs, which date centuries back in their origin, were most effectively rendered. Sung in foreign tongue with sympathetic understanding, Miss Forster by means of voice and dramatic interpretation, conveyed the theme of the song-story with exceptional skill.

The two piano numbers by Debussy played by Miss Bluthardt were greatly enjoyed, being faultless in technique and rendition.

Following are the numbers that made up this varied and delightful entertaining program:

(1-Liza Lehman (composer)

Good Morning

There are Fairies

The Guardian Angel

If no One Ever Marries Me

(2-Negro)

Old Watt and the Rabbits—Sidney Homer

Georgia Sleep song—Ray C. Blick

A Little Bit O' Honey—Carrie Jacobs-Bond

Is You?—Carrie Jacobs-Bond

Two Piano Solos—Debussy

(3-Folk Songs)

Bergere Legere—Air by J. B. Weckerlin

Cho-cho—Arr by Gertrude Ross, Province of Lanzo.

Lok or Farnyard song—Grieg

Spinneliedchen—Arr by Heinrich Reinmann

(4-Miscellaneous)

In the Dark in the Dew—C. Whitney Coombs, American

The Little Brown Owl—Wilfred Sanderson, English.

Rain—Pearl G. Curran, American

I Meant to Do My Work Today—Dent Mowrey, American

Grandpa—H. E. Sachs, American

The Night Wind—Roland Farley

Lil Boy—Katherine Stockwell Hazard, American

The afternoon was completed by serving of delicious refreshments by Mesdames Drach, Dick, Brierton, Hobbs, Miller, Pitcher, Richardson, Young, Schmidt, Terrill and Miss Scott.

Dancer Turns Washer Woman

Juarez, Mex. —(UP)—Teresa Madrid, 57, who earned lots of money and captivated audiences in her 38 years of entertaining in South America and Mexico, has lost everything and is now a washer woman earning $10 a week.

"Now—It's this," she pointed to a basket of wash. "As long as my back holds out I can live, I guess. At one time she owned two places of entertainment in Buenos Aires.

"Now I don't even own the house I live in," Teresa said with a shrug of her shoulders.

Six years ago Teresa said she had more than $40,000 saved, and she planned to quit.

"In Vera Cruz I met a man. Oh, he was a little different from the rest. His tongue was silvery and he promised much. I loved him. I let him have $30,000 to open a gambling hall. The place didn't prosper. That's what he told me. Gradually I let him have the rest of my money."

Teresa took up life as a dancer in Montevideo and in South America.

KING'S DAUGHTERS S. S. CLASS TO MEET

The King's Daughters Sunday school class of Grace Evangelical church will meet with Mrs. Ed Plock 923 Center Ave., Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Annual Knights Templar Ball April 8th, A Colorful Affair

Invitations are being mailed for the annual Knights Templar Ball which is to be held at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday evening, April 8th. This annual affair is accorded to be the most spectacular ball held in the northern part of Illinois. A number of Sir Knights and their ladies attend each year from all of the large cities including many of the Grand Commandry members from Chicago.

The Commander, Sir Knight Grover W. Gehant, has had his various committees preparing for this event for several weeks and in order to accommodate the large number who will attend, a card party has been arranged for those who do not dance, and some beautiful prizes have been selected for this part of the entertainment.

The program will begin at 8:15 P. M. and will include an Exhibition Drill by the White Shrine Patrol Team. Concert by Commandry Drum and Bugle Corps. Exhibition by the Commandry Drill Team.

Violin Solo by Miss Ruby Shippee accompanied by Miss Leola Quick.

The grand march, with its special military features, is the most colorful event of the evening, because the Sir Knights, attired in full uniform and the ladies in their beautiful evening gowns, compose a picture seen only in military social affairs. This will begin at 9:15 and will terminate with the first dance number following which, those who prefer to enjoy the card party will adjourn to the parlors. The dancing will continue until 12 P. M. and refreshments will be served during the evening.

The various committees, such as those who will arrange the decorations and those who direct the various features of the program, have assured the Commander that they will complete their work in a manner that should please all who will attend. This party is looked forward to each year and is discussed by so many people in this part of Illinois that each succeeding commander finds it necessary to arrange for new and interesting features and so the party this year will, if possible, be more attractive than the beautiful ones which have been held in previous years. Considerable effort has been devoted to the preparation of the invitations and the committee who are making them have tried not to overlook any one who is interested, however, if this should occur, it will be readily corrected by notifying Sir Knight Edwin Rosecrans, telephone 71.

Meeting Twentieth Century Club Enjoyed

Wednesday evening the members of the 20th Century Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Donald Burd. A short business meeting was followed by answering roll call, each member stating why she joined the club.

The paper of the evening, a continuation of the study of Alaska, was given by Norma Porter. These talks prove very interesting and touch valuable information is gained.

A talk on Madam Schumann-Heink was given by Ruth Ball. This also proved to be interesting.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, completing a happy evening for all.

The next meeting, which will be held in two weeks, will be at the home of Ruth Johnson.

Shower for Prospective Brides Saturday

Mrs. E. A. Clevidence, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Hopkins, entertained with a delightful supper at the Clevidence home on Saturday evening, the guests being the members of the Kendall club and their daughters, and it later proved to be a miscellaneous shower honoring two prospective brides of the approaching summer, Miss Dorothy Lennon and Miss Mary Louise Downing. The shower was a complete surprise to both the brides-to-be, and their mothers, and proved a most enjoyable affair, many lovely gifts being received by the girls. The supper was a daintily appointed affair, the attractive decorations being in yellow.

Miss Lennon's engagement to Ellsworth G. Beckey of Sterling was announced Saturday, but as yet Miss Downing's engagement has not been announced.

WOOSUNG WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Woosung Women's club will meet Wednesday in an all day meeting with Mrs. Ann Farster of Woosung. Roll call was answered by original poems. Members are requested to take with them to this meeting, carpet rags to sew.

YOUR CHILDREN by Olive Roberts Barton

Some way or other the nice little "curtsy" has flown to join the other shades of what used to be considered "nice behavior" for our girls.

Our grandmothers did it when they were little. When their elders came near they spread their skirts retreated a foot and bent a knee, a nice gesture of respectful deference to spectacles and black silks.

A generation or so passed on and the curtsy was neglected. But about twenty years ago careful mothers who liked the old-fashioned custom revived it. We had the little girls all over the country bobbing up and down like Jack-in-the-boxes. The question was, how old did they have to be before they could stop bending their knees and start bending their elbows, or when they should start shaking hands instead of bobbing when mother's friends came in?

Not Inferiors Now!

No one ever settled it, but if we wait long enough such things usually look after themselves, and this did, too. Children are no longer exploited—now are they being everlastingly reminded of their inferiority, argue as we will that it was only reverence, respect, and all that. But when a girl of fifteen was still

FEAR AND WORLD PEACE.

The mind of the militarist works in a peculiar manner. The ordinary mortal cannot hope to understand; all he can do is watch and marvel, and pray that some day enlightenment will come to him.

General Ludendorff the other day expressed himself, once more, on the causes of the World War; and he revealed his sincere belief that war came because Germany was not sufficiently prepared.

To be sure, Germany's war strength in 1914 numbered 5,000,000 soldiers. But universal conscription, says the general, existed in Germany "only on paper." This imposing array of soldiery constituted only 54 per cent of Germany's potential man power.

Furthermore, the general says, other nations knew that Germany was neglecting her defenses; knew that she had nowhere near as large an army as she might have had. This, he says, induced France and Russia to provoke an attack on her, in the hope that they might catch her napping. Germany's military weakness, in fact, was a cause of the war, in that it led Germany's enemies to jump on her.

Thus we are left to draw the amazing conclusion that if Germany's army in 1914 had only been composed of eight or nine million men, instead of a measly five, the piece of the world would have remained unbroken.

Absurd as all of this is, General Ludendorff is merely expressing the stock argument of the militarists. Make your military establishment so overwhelmingly strong that no one will even dream of making war on you, and you are safe; that is the credo. General Ludendorff has simply expressed it in its most extreme form.

The argument does not go over as well now as it did a generation ago. A world impelled by fear to keep the peace does not look attractive nowadays, and there are more people than there used to be to suspect that such a peace would be unstable. Fear, a usable force in world affairs, is selling at a new low.

We have not yet carried this new attitude far enough, however. In domestic affairs we still lean on the power of fear. We plan to keep crime down by making people afraid to break the law. We plan to keep public officials honest by holding over them the fear of being caught cheating. We try to make our neighbors think and talk as the majority thinks and talks, for fear of a hostile public sentiment.

Will a time come when we take as sensible an attitude toward the use of fear in these fields as we are now beginning to take in the field of international relations? If and when it does we shall have an infinitely healthier society.

THE WAY OF ALL RICHES.

Many interesting things may be learned by studying the case of the Wendell family of New York, strange recluses who lived alone in the midst of New York's turmoil. Miss Ella, last of the family, is dead.

From the comparatively modest estate of the founder of the family, the Wendell fortunes grew into a huge bulk of 100,000,000 by the simple process of spending practically nothing, selling nothing, and sitting tight while real estate values pyramided as New York grew.

Critics of the American system unite in crying "See how a vast accumulation of wealth piles up, unearned! Soon a few people will have all the money in the country."

But the Wendell estate, nearly all of it, will go to charity. It will no longer exist as a huge, piled up accumulation.

So with most great estates. They descend in direct line for two, or perhaps three, generations. Then they are split among many heirs, and the vast unearned accumulation is no more. Or there is no direct heir, and charities, lawyers, indirect and distant legatees get it all. Incompetents inherit it, dissipate it or lose it, and back it goes into general circulation.

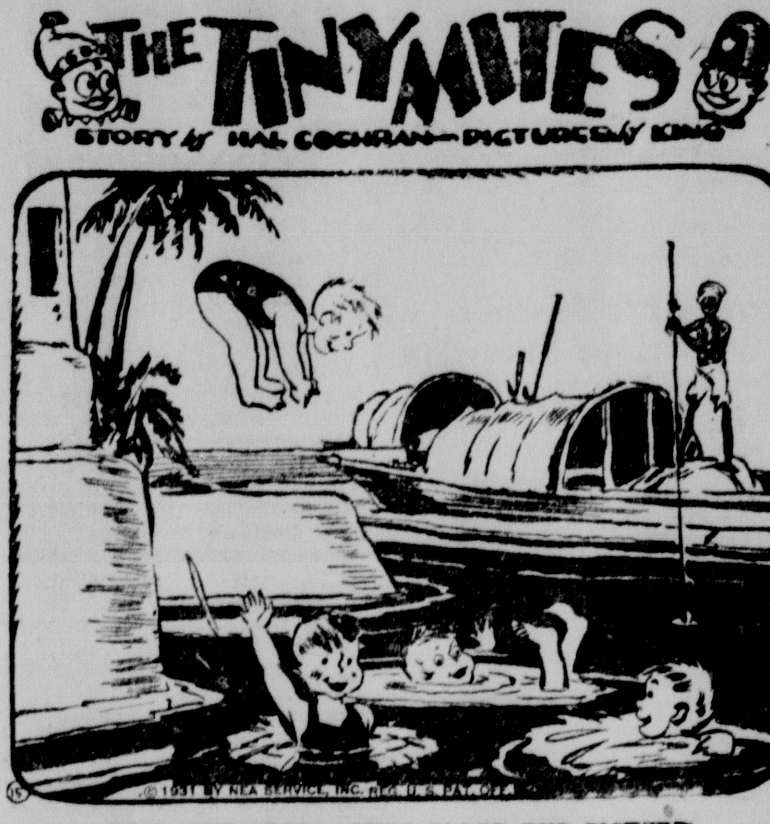

All this is as it should be, and it is an effective answer to an otherwise valid criticism of the American scheme of things.

HOW FAST CIVILIZATION CHANGES.

Not much of a stir was made when recently three of our greatest cities—Chicago, Los Angeles and Boston—placed cows on public exhibition so that children might see what they look like. Yet here, when you think of it, is one of the most poignant signs of our changing civilization.

It would have seemed incredible a generation ago to be told that in 20 years a fourth of the school children in Los Angeles, as it is estimated would not know what an ordinary bossy looked like. Peering still deeper into the future, we are led to inquire how long will it be before the horse, that reliable vehicle of another day, will also be placed on exhibition?

Horses, undeniably, are vanishing, victims of the automobile. Even on the farms, their final refuge, they are slowly retreating before trucks and tractors. Would many have believed a few years ago that the cow and horse would some day be held up as zoological curiosities? Here is an index of the speed with which our civilization changes.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Just as the boat pulled up to the shore, the boatman cried, "I want some more. Aw, gee, don't stop this fine ride now. I think it's simply great. It's getting late and pretty soon I'm sure there'll be a big, bright moon. Of course it's time for dinner, but I think we all can wait."

The other Times joined right in and soon created quite a din. "We want to ride 'till dark," they cried. The Travel Man laughed loud. "All right," he said, "we'll drift a bit. It seems that you're all feeling fit. I'll gladly do most anything to please this happy crowd."

A brilliant moon rose on high and made a picture in the sky. The Tinymites hummed pretty tunes till they were sleepy heads. And then the boatman pulled to shore and, with a jump and mighty roar, the whole bunch jumped up to the dock and cried, "Now for our beds."

A very fine hotel was found and after looking all around, they hied up to a suite of rooms, as classy as could be. The Travel Man said, "Sleep! Don't play. Tomorrow is another day! We'll get up good and early so some new sights we can see. 'At dawn,' said Clowdy, 'I'm in trim to take a fine refreshing swim. I know where we can rent some suits. Let's hike out for the beach. It isn't very far from here and, look, the sky is fine and clear. The bathhouse sits right up on shore and won't be hard to reach."

It wasn't long till everyone was swimming 'round and having fun. Wee Scouty dove away down and upset the Travel Man. When he came up he said, "Hey, you! You'll get a dandy ducking, too!"

But when he chased Wee Scouty, off the little chickens ran.

PURCHASE OF ALASKA

On March 30, 1867, the United States purchased Alaska from Russia for $7,000,000.

Secretary of State Seward persuaded Congress to make this purchase in order to extend our power on the Pacific Coast. Many congressmen thought it was a waste of money, and one called Alaska "the refrigerator of the United States."

But as everyone now knows, the purchase of Alaska has proved extremely profitable to the government. Alaska's furs, forests and fish have yielded us considerable wealth to speak nothing of the rich deposits of gold found on the Yukon and in the Klondike. The trade in sealskins alone amounts into millions of dollars a year.

Alaska embraces about 550,000 square miles and includes the islands of the Aleutian archipelago, which extend a very long way westward.

POLITICS AND RELIGION
"Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's."
Luke 20:25. (Read Luke 20:19-26.)
Meditation

It is a matter of history that the Roman rule afforded Christianity its great opportunity. The new religion spread rapidly within the empire and did not spread beyond it. We may not say that Jesus had that in mind at this time but He was not a political revolutionist. The independence of the Jewish nation would not have made free the people whom the truth had not made free. God can be served under any form of government while no form of government can save men from their bondage to sin. In their political agitations the Jews were forgetting their primary allegiance to God. That did not the clever escape from the trap set for him, is the point of Jesus' answer. The first thing is to let God have His own.

Prayer
Almighty God from whom proceed all power and dominion, grant unto us wisdom and grace to seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness. And hasten, we beseech Thee, the fullness of the times when the kingdom of this world shall become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ. In His name. Amen.

Health Better Than Riches

"Before I was married, my mother and sister and I did all the farming work on a 64-acre farm for eleven years. I married a farmer and now in addition to my housework and the care of my children I help him with the outside work on our farm. After my last child was born, I began to suffer as many women do. Our family doctor gave me medicine but no results. One day he told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did and now I am a new woman and I know that good health is better than riches."—Mrs. Clyde L. Sherman, R. #1, Lickdale, Pennsylvania.

ESTIMATES MADE ON CROPS TO BE HARVESTED IN '31

Department Of Agriculture Submits Figures Gained In Survey

Washington, March 30—(UP)—The Department of Agriculture has announced that the total wheat acreage indicated for harvest in 1931 shows a decrease of about 3 percent from last year's acreage. This figure includes both winter and the spring wheat, allowing for abandonment to March 1.

The department reported that a total acreage of wheat indicated for harvest is 57,441,000 acres, compared with 59,153,000 acres harvested in 1930. Acreage harvested in 1929 was 61,464,000 acres.

Of the winter wheat sown this year, farmers reported to the Agricultural Department that they expected to harvest about 39,759,000 acres. The reduction in spring wheat acreage, the report continues, is due to a shift to feed crops in the North central spring wheat states and partly to a substitution of winter for spring wheat in the state of Washington.

The report issued today was supplemental to an estimate released Thursday which showed reductions of 23.9 percent in the acreage of durum and a 12 percent reduction in the acreage of other spring wheat.

The estimate reduction of 3 percent in acreage of all wheat showed that the federal farm board has made some progress in its campaign for reduced production.

The report said that with an average yield of spring wheat, the production of hard red spring wheat would be about 148,000,000 bushels. Durum wheat 47,000,000 bushels and white wheat 26,000,000 bushels.

The department did not believe that there will be an export surplus of hard red spring wheat grown east of the Rocky Mountains. This type of wheat, however, will be affected by world market conditions, the department said.

Spring wheat prices, it was said, may be expected to continue to command a considerable premium over winter wheats.

An abnormally large world carry-over wheat is still in prospect, the department said.

The department said farmers have generally reported an intention to increase their corn acreage this year by nearly 5 percent over last year. The department estimates that the actual acreage planted in corn will exceed by 4.2 percent last year's harvested acreage.

A corn crop of about 2,935,000 bushels should be produced, the department estimates. This would be about 41 percent larger than the short crop last year and the largest harvest since 1923.

An increase of 1,300,000 acres of oats, or 3.1 percent above the 1930 figure was indicated. Large increase is expected in the south Atlantic and south central states.

The department reported an expected increase of 1,200,000 acres of barley, 10 percent above the average harvested in 1930.

A decrease of 649,000 acres or 15 percent is indicated in the flax statistics available to the department. The present domestic demand for flax-seed products, the report says, remains at low level with little prospect of material improvement before the last half of the 1931 and 1932 flax marketing season.

Reports from potato growers disclose an intention to plant an acreage 10.7 percent larger than the harvested area last year. It is indicated, the department said, that the actual acreage harvested this year will be 8.4 percent larger than the 1930 harvested area.

The equipment from the old truck, which is still in good repair will be used on the new chassis.

Famous Fishes Go Bye-Bye As Cans Get Food

New York—One hundred and forty bills are being fired back and forth before the California legislature in the hottest "battles of laws" ever waged in that state, and which has brought sportsmen and conservationists on one side and the canning interests on the other definitely to grips, according to reports to the American Game Association.

Conservationists, backing the state department, are fighting to block the passage of bills to permit the killing of game by landowners on their land when and how they please, and to make easier the commercial use of kelp, a sea plant which supplies food and shelter for fish along the Pacific coast.

California Conservationists, a statewide organization, has hurried bills proposed not only to protect the sports of hunting and fishing, but

HOOPER'S DREAM FOR NATION TOLD BY HIS FRIENDS

His Private Commissions Are Reporting Much Good Progress

By Paul R. Mallon

United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, March 30—(UP)—The dream of a future United States with every man owning his own home, the healthiest babies, no illiterates and society on a general higher plane than history ever has recorded—that is the vision behind President Hoover's four private and personal commissions as described by his associates here today.

It was disclosed that he has raised more than three quarters of a million dollars, instituting the commission inquiries to carry out his long cherished ambition.

The story of the starting, financing and hopes of these commissions obscured in the political and economic activities of the president—has been obtained from an authoritative source. Friends of Mr. Hoover claim the chief reason prompting him to enter the national political arena was the prospect that such idealistic possibilities might be realized.

Noted sociologists of the nation were privately consulted by him soon after he took office, and decided to organize the commission, on social trends. Mr. Hoover promised the money and obtained it, without revealing the source.

Sociologists now are at work on the most stupendous collection of statistics concerning sociological conditions any nation ever has attempted.

The second commission originated in the President's mind many years ago. He and his friends, Secretary of Interior, Wilbur, often discussed the possibility of developing the sturdiest race in history by promotion of child health. The result was the Child Health Conference, which has written 18 volumes concerning its problem and laid down a standardized plan for bettering the health of future generations.

Friends of the President with troubles about raising money to build or buy their own homes brought him the idea for the third commission. It now is in operation planning to do the same thing for home ownership the Child Health Conference has done for children.

The Illiteracy Commission, fourth of the group, has reported great progress. The state reporting the highest rate of illiteracy a year ago will not have an illiterate within its borders next year, those interested in the work of this commission say.

Tests made by scientists prove that color effects are as follows: Red and orange stimulate, deep yellow cheers, green has soothing effect and white induces irritation.

Tests made by scientists have indicated that a bee's eyes are only about one percent as efficient as a human being's.

Dealers in leaf tobacco previously believed that thinner leaves are grown in the northern than in the southern tobacco sections of Wisconsin and that the thinner leaves burned longer.

The tests proved this belief in error. Instead they found that the better burn cannot be associated with any difference in leaf thickness, but is due to some other factor which they hope to learn by further tests.

Samples of the same crop from 40 southern and 24 northern farms were obtained from the Cooperative tobacco pool which markets most of the Wisconsin production. Average measurements of leaf thickness in inches were found to be 0.0032 for the southern and 0.0033 for the northern samples.

In the measurements for "burn," the northern leaf averaged 20.3 seconds, indicating a distinctly superior "burn" in the former.

SON DOUBLES FORTUNE OF RICHEST SLAV

Timber Land Was Nucleus of Famed Drach Holdings

BY BOGDAN SIMIC
Belgrade—(UP)—His father never traveled better than third class, and always carried his own wursts and bread.

The son, Arthur Drach, is rated today as Yugoslavia's richest man—more than a billion dinar, or $200,000,000. His father left half of it, the son has doubled that in speculation.

Morie Drach of Vienna, the father, came to Croatia 50 years ago with a modest fortune. Twenty years later he had become the largest owner of timber lands in the country. The backbone of this Drach fortune remains today in the timber land and numerous sawmills which he acquired.

Arthur Drach inherited his father's shrewdness. In recent years he has substantially increased his fortune through various banking and financial enterprises.

Other Wealthy Men
Among other Yugoslavians who have managed to keep their holdings more or less intact is George Weifert, beer king, rated at around $80,000,000. Now nearly 80, Weifert, like many another successful businessman, early began expanding his interests beyond the small brewery in Pančevo, Banat, left by his father. He first built a large beer plant in Belgrade, still an important link in his chain of industries.

Weifert saw an untrammeled field in Yugoslavia's then undeveloped mining resources. He branched out into copper, founding the famous "St. George" mine in 1873. Growing need for coal led him farther. He started lignite and coal pits; later added silver, lead and iron enterprises. Gold washing and magnesium followed. The road toward industrial dominance naturally led to financial enterprises; he founded the Serbian National Bank in 1883, the institution which is now included in the Yugoslavian National Bank. Weifert was governor of the latter at one time; he still is one of the most powerful directors.

Rich Through Groceries
Groceries were the foundation of a third sizeable bank account in Yugoslavia—that of Andrej Sarabon, estimated at some $16,000,000. Born in Sloven 70 years ago, he was destined for a business career, finished commercial school at 19 and opened a grocery and spice shop at 26. He developed the chain-store idea early, and six years later had founded a nucleus which, up to the time of the war had spread into multiple lines with branches all over the country.

The peace, and the resulting tariff walls, split his own holdings against themselves. He modified his interests, went into finance. Today he is a leading figure in the "Kmetijska Posojilnica," powerful credit union for commercial and industrial enterprises at Ljubljana; vice-president of the Donauendliche-Adriatische bank at Belgrade; director of the large publishing house "Merkur" at Ljubljana; and has interests in some 50 other business and industrial enterprises.

BULK METHOD OF ROASTING COFFEE IS NOT EXACT

In Spite of Care It Is Difficult to Develop Uniform Flavor

It is virtually impossible to accurately roast coffee in bulk, because there is no exact way to determine when all of the batch is "done." One roast may be "high" and another "low," with the result that there is variation of flavor.

Hills Bros. overcame this uncertainty, by inventing and perfecting a radically different process—Controlled Roasting. By automatic control, a stream of coffee passes continuously through the roaster a few pounds at a time. Positive control of the heat is maintained, with the result that every berry of the rare blend is roasted evenly—to the degree that insures a rich, uniform, full-bodied flavor in every pound.

No other coffee tastes like Hills Bros. Coffee because no other coffee is roasted the same way. Controlled Roasting is Hills Bros' process exclusively.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is extracted from the can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trademark—on the can.

"Quail Racket" Bought 80,000 Trapped Birds

New York—Behind an advertisement which for two years has appeared regularly in national sportsman's magazines, presenting M. E. Bogle as "America's largest producer of quail for breeding and restocking purposes," Tennessee game protectors have unearthed a vast quail culling ring dealing in birds illegally trapped in Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas and Alabama.

In a raid made on March 21 upon an old warehouse at Memphis, the officers found 450 bob white quail crated for shipment. Warren's charging violation of the game laws were issued against M. E. Bogle and Huntley May, who had hurriedly left town, reports allege.

The investigators, Deputy State Game Warden Matt Grantham and Lawrence Merovka, of the federal game protection service, claim to have uncovered complete evidence that the two distributed each year approximately 40,000 quail, all of which they had purchased for 30 cents a bird from farmers who trapped them unlawfully.

Already suspected by conservation officials, the pair paved the way for their undoing by attempting to sell a large consignment of "imported Mexican quail" to the Connecticut Board of Fisheries and Game. The Connecticut authorities forwarded these birds to the Department of Agriculture to Washington, where they were declared to be native quail.

Through "decoy" letters sent Bogle at his San Antonio, Texas, address, the shadowing of trucks and the tracing of express records, the plot came to light, the officers reported.

Others besides the two operators are wanted in connection with the trapping and distribution of the birds, the American Game Association has been informed.

The owners of the 450 quail may face a maximum separate offense fine of $50 a bird, or $22,500, in addition to federal charges. The birds will probably be released near Memphis, in Shelby County.

Once there had been a king named Faustin I, who ruled over Haiti and La Gonave. The natives passed the legend of Faustin I from generation to generation and it was said that he would come back some day.

So it came to pass that Sergeant Faustin Wirus was in court the day that Queen Ti Memenne was brought in and his rescue of the queen meant nothing less than the return of Faustin as far as the natives were concerned. Ti Memenne confirmed it by mysterious consultations which showed it was about time the king was getting back.

Although Wirus did not become the husband of Ti Memenne, he was crowned king with the proper ceremonies and immediately began his good work among his people. The problem of care of children worried him until he made a trip to Port Au Prince and got a copy of Dr. Holt's book on care and feeding of children.

"Around that I built my kingdom," he modestly admitted in letting newspaper men in on the secret of successfully holding down a throne in these days of republics, Soviets and economic depression.

Robbery Story Of Banker Accepted

Chicago, Mar. 28—(UP)—John E. Malloy, former Cashier of the now defunct Lawrence Avenue National Bank, was found guilty in federal court today of false entry charges, but was acquitted of embezzling $60,000.

The conviction of Malloy, who the prosecution attempted to show had spent large sums on nightclub entertainment for the bank's attractive telephone operator, was based on seven counts of making false entries in bank accounts and on two counts of making false reports to examiners.

Malloy's acquittal on embezzlement charges indicated the jury accepted his story that he was held up in the bank New Year's Day by two bandits who rifled safe deposit boxes and kidnapped him after forcing him to turn the time lock on the bank vault so that it could not be opened for several days. Malloy said he was freed at Milwaukee.

After the verdict was returned Federal Judge Fred L. Wham denied a defense motion for a new trial and set April 14, as the day of sentencing.

Week's Ring Cards

New York, Mar. 30—(AP)—The week's fistie entertainment opens in double-barreled fashion tonight at New York and Philadelphia.

At New York, Jersey City's belting heavyweight, young Stanley Poreda, gets his first test against "big league" opposition, meeting rubbery Johnny Risko of Cleveland, in the ten round feature at Madison Square Garden.

A heavy hitter, Poreda nevertheless will be on the short end of the betting at ring-time tonight. Risko, called the "spiller" because he has ruined the title hopes of so many first-class heavyweights, known all the tricks of the trade and the betting fraternity feels that old John's experience will be too much of a handicap for Poreda to hurdle.

Joe Banovic of Birmingham battles Bob Olson, New York, light heavyweight, in the ten round semi final and in the opening ten, Young Terry Trenton, N. J., welterweight, who surprised the boys by whipping Vincent Street in his first Garden appearance, clashes with Joey Lagrey, former Johnstown, Pa., boy who has been fighting around New York armories for several years.

Philadelphia's show is topped by a ten round bout between Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, and Young Firpo of Pennsylvania, N. J. Bass's title will not be at stake.

Tomorrow night, Paul Berlenbach, the "Iron Paul" who won the light heavyweight championship some years ago, begins his comeback campaign in a four rounder against Eddie Clark, New York Negro, at the Broadway Arena.

King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, tackles Con O'Kelly of Ireland in Boston tomorrow night.

TIGERS' BOSS SEES PLACE AT TOP OF LEAGUE

Bucky Harris Believes He Has Best Pitchers In American

BY HENRY MCLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, March 30—(UP)—The rest of the world may not share his belief, but Bucky Harris, dynamic manager of the Detroit Tigers, is confident he has a first division club and one which will make a determined bid for the 1931 American League pennant.

The youthful boss of the Tigers, whose teams finished sixth and fifth, respectively, since he took charge in 1929, is certain the club will move up to bigger and better things.

Harris' optimism has been increased by the team's performance in spring exhibitions games. With the exception of seven games in San Francisco when Bucky used pitchers borrowed from Beaumont of the Texas League, the club walked through their coast and National League opposition.

The Tigers' main strength lies in their pitching staff of Whitehill, Sorrell, Hoyt, Uhle and Bridges. Supporting this main cast are Sullivan, Cantrell, Hossett, Herring and Wyatt. These men form a staff of quality and quantity and Harris is quoted as saying he wouldn't swap it for any in the league.

The Detroit infield will consist of Alexander at first; Gehring at second; Akers at shortstop, and McManus on third. If McManus is not ready to start because of a leg operation, Marvin Owen, a rookie with but four months professional experience, will play third.

The Tiger outfield will see four recruits in action, Silver, Doljack, and the spectacular Walker brothers. With the regulars, Roy Johnson and Johnny Stone, they will form two sets of outfielders, one for left-handed pitching, one for right-handed.

The veteran Waite Schang and John Grabowski have added strength to the Detroit catching department. Schang is in perfect shape and has been fielding and hitting at a remarkable pace.

Harris is particularly delighted with the form shown by pitcher Waite Hoyt, one time New York Yankees "boy wonder." Hoyt, according to all reports, is expected to win no less than 20 games this season.

Jones And Diegel Drop Charity Game

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Mar. 30—(AP)—For those who have been a bit dubious, Bobby Jones is still up on his golf game despite a busy season of picture making in Holly-

Al Smith, Miner for a Day

It looks as though Alfred E. Smith might be introducing a new Democratic mascot and the latest style in brown derbies for pedestrians. As a matter of fact, however, the former New York governor is pictured here just before he went on an inspection trip through a mine near Scranton, Pa. He was clad in helmet and overalls, and was made a member in good standing of the miners' local union.

wood, to which he returned today.

Teamed with Leo Diegel, local pro and twice professional golf champion of the United States, Jones went to defeat at the hands of George Von Elm and Mortie Dutra yesterday, one down, over the tricky Agua Caliente $25,000 championship course, to assist charity in Mexico and the United States by approximately $5,000.

Some 2,500 persons, by far the largest crowd ever attracted to a golf match here, witnessed the contest, which saw the tall dark California Spaniard, Dutra, Long Beach Cal. professional, walk off with individual honors.

Dutra set sub-par pace for the 19 holes, getting a 35 on the hazardous home nine for a 70, one under. Jones had a 37 on the last nine, for a 72 total, while Von Elm came home in 36 for a 75. Diegel took a 38, giving him 77 for the 18 holes.

Many of Hollywood's movie stars came out to see their newly initiated actor, Bobby, in his first public appearance on the coast since he gave up amateur golf. The gallery included Harold Lloyd, who was referee of the match, George Bancroft and Jack Mulhall.

Baseball Leaders

Honor E. S. Barnard

Cleveland, Mar. 30—(UP)—Baseball leaders of the nation are assembling here today to pay final tribute to Ernest S. Barnard, late President of the American League and former President and Secretary of the Cleveland Indians.

Barnard's body arrived here last night from Rochester, Minn., where he died suddenly Friday from heart disease. He was 57. Mrs. Barnard and several friends and associates of Barnard accompanied the body on the trip to Cleveland.

Funeral services for the late league president are to be held Tuesday afternoon at the Masonic Temple. The eight presidents of the American League will be pallbearers as will K. M. Landis, Commissioner of Baseball General Manager, William Evans of the Cleveland Indians, Walter R. MacNichols, Business Manager of the Indians and John A. Heydler, president of the National League.

Judge Landis and Harry Grabiner, Secretary of the Chicago White Sox, were to be among the first to arrive here today to pay their last respects. Grabiner was to represent Charles A. Comiskey, president of the White Sox, who is ill. Comiskey, it was expected, will be the only one of the American League president who will be unable to be present tomorrow at the funeral.

Chicago, Mar. 30—(UP)—Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox, today ordered cancellation of the exhibition game scheduled between his team and the New York Giants at Dallas, Tex., Tuesday out of respect to the memory of E. S. Barnard, late president of the American League.

FIGHT FANS OF WEST ILLINOIS TO SEE BATTLE

Many Plan To Attend A Clinton Show And See Champion

Clinton, Ia., March 30—(Special)—Fight fans of eastern Iowa and western Illinois will have their first opportunity of seeing the world's heavyweight champion, Max Schmeling, of Berlin, in action when the first German ever to wear the diamond appears at the Clinton Coliseum, Thursday, April 9, as the headline attraction of the greatest fight show ever staged in this section of the Mississippi Valley.

Not only will the fans have the chance for a closeup of the world's champion but they will be entertained by a scintillating card of super-porring bouts.

Headlining the supporting card, Duke Barry, matchmaker of the Clinton Boxing Club, sponsor of the show, has signed Del Fontaine, Canadian middleweight champion, to go 10 rounds against Chief Jack Elkhart, the famous Pueblo Indian fighter. Fontaine and Elkhart are both too well known to fight fans to need any introduction.

Last Monday night at Indianapolis Fontaine scored a brilliant victory over Ray Trumble, the hard-punching Rockford boy, who has been bowling over some of the leaders of the division. Elkhart, who has campaigned extensively in the east where he was a Madison Square Garden attraction, has shifted his base of operations to Chicago and plans an active campaign to win a shot at the title declared vacated by the National Boxing Association.

Supporting the Fontaine-Elkhart clash, Barry has booked two sterling eight-round semi-windups. One of the eight-rounders brings back to the Coliseum ring those two worthies who put up such a bang-up battle here a month ago—Bert Viscioni, the "wallop" wop from Moline, Ill., and "Kid" Lehr, the youngster of the two Waterloo ringsters of that name. Fans who saw the first bout have been clamoring for a return match to settle the question of superiority which was left up in the air by the draw verdict.

In the other eight-rounder Harvey Carothers, the blonde Moline welterweight who gained a decision over Joe Doll of Savannah, Ill. here a month ago, will face Jimmy Hamilton, the tough Cedar Rapids mauler, in what should be a slam-bang battle. Carothers has made a host of friends in Clinton and the vicinity and he will be a popular favorite with the crowd.

A six rounder involving Lou Taylor, hard-punching Moline 120 pounder, and Howard Fugate, Clinton's newest fistie sensation, completes the all-star card supporting the appearance of the world's champion. Alex Fidler, of Cedar Rapids, featured in Ripley's "Believe It or Not" today as one of the ring's most active referees, will be the third man in the ring for all bouts.

Biloxi, Miss., Mar. 30—(AP)—Walter Johnson is basing his hopes for Fred Marberry's future on that pitcher's showing in a pre-season game with the Baltimore Orioles. Marberry walked six men in three innings while he hurled Saturday for the Senators, but Manager Johnson said:

Pres. L. Harold Wright of Chicago will present the "Great Exodus" and "Conquest of the West" in the I. O. O. F. hall, corner of Galena avenue and Second street at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday.

Wright, whose home is originally in Phoenix, Arizona, has collected much valuable information and outstanding experiences and achievement of the early pioneers in their struggles in establishing a great empire in the Rocky Mountains. During a period of time when the western states were only territories and great migrations of people were moving with all speed to the Great Eldorado in the California gold rush.

The lecture is given under the auspices of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Every one is welcome. The lecture is given absolutely free—No collections.

Big Money Golfers At Atlanta Tourney

Augusta, Ga., Mar. 30—(AP)—An array of professionals was here today in quest of the last big money prize of the year's tournament season—the $5000 southeastern open.

The entry list, an even hundred, read like a roll-call of goldfom's money seekers who have followed the golden trail from California and Mexico, through to Florida and North Carolina.

The question of the biggest money winner of the winter season is yet to be determined, and Gene Sarazen and Johnny Golden are here to settle the matter. Sarazen now leads the field with a total of $8325 to Golden's $7340. George Von Elm, businessman golfer, has won $617 more than Golden but he is not entered.

FORMER FOLLIES STAR KILLED IN WILD AUTO PLUNGE

Mrs. Mary Townsend's Car
Fell Over 400-Foot
Cliff In France

Eze, France, March 30.—(UP)—The police of Eze today described the death of Mrs. Mary Townsend, whose automobile plunged over a 400 foot precipice near here Saturday night, as an accident.

The conclusion was reached despite a disconnected letter left by Mrs. Townsend in which she bequeathed 4,000 francs (about $160) to the nurse of her 5-year-old daughter.

It was confirmed at the inquest that Mrs. Townsend, who was known as Peggy Davis on the New York stage, was formerly Mary Margaret Laird of Birmingham, Alabama. She was 25 years old.

Her husband, David Townsend, is a native of Sydney, Australia.

The coroner at the inquest concluded that death was due of the fall over the cliff and was instantaneous. He said there was no proof she was neurotic or had been treated for nervous trouble, although recently she had been moody.

Townsend was in the care of physicians, who gave him sedatives to enable him to rest. Mrs. Townsend probably will be buried here Wednesday.

Nice, Mar. 30.—(UP)—The death of Mrs. Mary Townsend, 34, former New York show girl, who drove her automobile off a 400-foot cliff at Eze Saturday night, was attributed today to neurosthenia.

The body of Mrs. Townsend, who was known as Peggy Davis when she appeared in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1923, was found crushed and broken in the deep ravine near the estate of Col. Jack Basan, husband of Consuelo Vanderbilt.

A note was clutched in her lifeless hands. It said:

"I don't want to go back on the stage. I am tired of living and prefer to die. Look after my baby."

The note was addressed to her husband, David Townsend, 38, an Englishman who is well known in Wall Street. After identifying the body of his wife yesterday afternoon, Townsend said she was suffering from neurosthenia and that he knew of no other motive for her act. She had no financial or other worries.

Was Noted Beauty

Considered one of the most beautiful women on the Riviera, Mrs. Townsend mixed with the smartest American society circles. She often won the rounds of cocktail parties without her husband and had been scheduled to participate in "The Battles of Flowers" at Baulieu when her body was found.

At 10 P. M. Saturday she entered a restaurant on the step and winding coast road. She sat at a table on a balcony and ordered a glass of cognac, a waiter at the restaurant said.

She swallowed the drink in a single gulp and sat staring out at the Mediterranean. After a while she ordered another drink and then told the waiter to bring her paper and a pen.

She swallowed the liquor and then wrote quickly, arose and handed the waiter 50 francs, saying, "keep the change."

Outside she jumped into her automobile and sped away. She was not seen alive again, so far as officials could determine. The villagers at Eze discovered the wreckage of her car Sunday morning and gentlemen descended to recover the body.

Townsend and their daughter, who is five years old, were at their handsome residence at Cap Ferrat.

WINNER IN RECENT POETRY CONTEST

MISS ANNA HOBERG

Dixon high school freshman whose poem, "I Was Brought Up Out In Dixon, Dixon Out In Illinois" was voted the best in the recent contest conducted by The Telegraph. Her poem, which won her a check for $100, the prize offered by a former Dixon man who specified that his name be kept secret, was:

I was brought up out in Dixon,
Dixon out in Illinois;

And to claim it as my birthplace
Has been by pride and joy.

There I spent my happy childhood,
When I thought of naught but to play.

There I played in books of knowledge;
In a school room day by day.

There I played my tricks and capers,
When a youngster full of vim

And I had as close companions;
Lively Jack and Smiling Jim.

We were always found together
From the time we played with toys,

In and out of petty mischief,
Just like all the other boys.

But those care-free years fled swiftly
And I soon longed to be

As a great and busy city
With no ruling power o'er me.

Yes, I dreamed of a great, large city
With throngs going to and fro;

In my mind was painted a picture
Which set my heart aglow.

For my heart was young and restless
And I did not seem content.

My surroundings lost attraction;
On adventure I was bent.

So I left my home and loved ones
For the city lured me on.

A fond farewell to Jack and Jim,
And their old pal was gone.

But I set out quite determined
To make myself succeed.

For if you reap a harvest,
You first must sow the seed.

I now can say quite frankly
I have been a prosperous boy.

As have many boys from Dixon
Dixon out in Illinois.

Yes, since then I've led greatly,
Traveled many lands and climes,

But I still say, dear, old Dixon
Ranks with any, at all times.

For in scattering nature's treasures;
God to her has been most kind.

And more gorgeous scenic beauty
I'm sure is hard to find.

Flowing through our little city,
Never taking time to rest;

Is the beautiful Rock River
Called the "Hudson of the West."

MAD MARRIAGE

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Author of "HEART HUNGRY," etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GIPSY MERRIDE, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, meets ALAN WALLACE at the home of her wealthy cousin, ANNE TROWBRIDGE. Gypsy is miserable because she has learned that ALAN CROSBY, a young man from a year and a half in Paris studying art, no longer cares for her. Wallace tells Gypsy that he has been fitted by his fiancée. To spite the girl he cares for he asks Gypsy to marry him. She first refuses but later accepts. They are married next morning and depart for Forest City, his home town.

At Jim's home they are greeted by his aunt, MISS ELLEN WALLACE, who immediately becomes hostile to the girl. After a few days Miss Wallace moves to a cottage down the street. She arranges a family dinner party at which Gypsy meets the other relatives. MRS. SOPHONIA NICHOLSON, who is Jim's aunt, and LUCIA WALLACE, his cousin, are present. This evening Jim and the couple leave. Next morning Gypsy receives a letter addressed in familiar handwriting.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

UPSTAIRS, securely locked away in the lowest dresser drawer in Gypsy's bedroom, there was a pack of letters tied with cord. They were addressed in the same bold handwriting as the envelope in her hand. The difference was that this letter had been directed to "Mrs. James Wallace."

For one long moment Gypsy's heart seemed to cease beating. Then it began to pound tumultuously.

There were the familiar initials, "A. R. C." in the left-hand corner. There was the same funny little curly cue Alan always made when he wrote a capital "M." Gypsy turned the letter over, noting the New York postmark. Slowly she went back into the house.

She dropped the other letter on a table in the hall and climbed the flight to her bedroom. Inside the room she closed the door behind her and sank to the edge of the bed.

After all these days it had come! All this while, Gypsy suddenly realized, she had been praying for this letter. It was as though she had suddenly awakened from a long nightmare.

ARE LUXURIES NECESSARY?

Spending That Makes Everyone Richer

By Everit B. Terhune
United Business Publishers, Inc.

Sit down some time with pencil and paper and list the items in your daily life that are absolutely essential to bare existence. You will find, if you are very impartial in your estimate, that the list is startlingly brief. Life, stripped of its embellishments, is a primitive affair.

Fortunately, the great majority of us have a smoldering desire for better things. We have a craving for more and more goods, most of which since they are not used solely to sustain life, but rather to make it more livable, are, in reality, luxuries.

It may seem strange that the more of these luxuries we buy, the more certain we are, as a nation, of their continued enjoyment. Believe it or not—luxury buying helps to fatten every payroll.

When roughly one-half of those employed, and consequently one-half the payrolls of the country, are in industries whose products can be broadly classified as "luxuries," it is evident that the production and distribution of these items has a decided influence upon our material well being.

In its last published semi-annual census of manufactures, the Department of Commerce found that in a typical year such as 1927 the total value of manufactures and products in the food industry was, in round figures, 11 billion dollars. Like light and air and water, food is one of the prime necessities of life. Yet we find in the above total such substantial items as: confectionery—391 million dollars; sugar—600 million; ice cream—300 million; coffee—384 million. Leverages—242 million; and many other items of doubtful classification as necessities, including one of 62 million for chewing gum. These figures are values placed by the manufacturers, not the much greater price that you and I paid as consumers. Obviously, no one would cross sugar off the Nation's diet list, despite the fact that our per capita consumption is the greatest in the world. We owe to the depriving of America of its ice cream, cakes and other confections based upon sugar, it would put a tremendous strain upon family life. There is but little response to bread and butter as a recompense for good behavior.

Sugar, and the hundreds of items of food that it enters into, has a salutary influence upon transportation, equipment manufacture, wholesale and retail distribution, and the sweetness of life. Those who recall its curtailed use during the war know something of the resentment that follows when our freedom to enjoy its luxury item is handicapped.

Our breakfast coffee, or coffee at any time during the day, is so ingrained a habit as to be almost a necessity. Like the great bulk of our supply of sugar, coffee is produced outside the confines of the country. Consequently it becomes an important item in our foreign trade. When we buy coffee or sugar in some foreign country we do not pay cash, but settle our debt with automobiles, farm implements, and hundreds of other items. Simply stated, the more sugar and coffee we consume, the faster our payrolls in the industries which produce those items we give in trade.

In the same census report quoted above we find that manufacturers placed a value of 5 billion dollars on the various items of clothing produced in this country in 1927. Clothing, too, seems to be a prime necessity, climate and due modesty being considered. Yet what portion of the 300 million dollars worth of furs, the 80 millions worth of men's neckties, the many millions worth of sports clothing or the 64 millions worth of trimmings, among other such items in the above total, were necessary, and what portion went toward satisfying our vanity?

The furs, whether from Louisiana, South America or the bleak wastes of the Arctic, were negotiated for by a return of guns, ammunition, canned food, radios, gasoline motors and clothing. We buy from the World, and the World is our customer, and the more we buy and sell, the more and faster the pay envelopes.

Clothing, because of the vicissitudes of life, reaches a point sooner or later at which cleaning is necessary. For years in this country, Monday in the home was a day apart given over to the boiling water, suds and clothes pins. More recently we have developed a tendency to patronize central laundries, until we are now paying them in the neighborhood of a half billion dollars a year to take the drudgery and confusion of wash day out of the home.

The business of the thousands of laundries has increased over 100 per cent in the past ten years, and their employees distribute more than 200 millions in payrolls each year. They buy your products if you are a grocer, and they buy shoes, clothing, automobiles, houses and chewing gum. And if you are a manufacturer, quite possibly the laundries get supplies or equipment of some sort from you, and your profits and payrolls are fattened, and passed along.

The cleaning and dyeing industry, which has increased its efforts some 200 per cent in the past ten years toward improving the appearance of America, distributes more than 50 millions in payrolls; and adds its purchases of supplies and equipment to that of the laundries, and the many other than actual necessity industries in the improvement of payrolls and prosperity.

What is Luxury? That question we can answer only as individuals. Are silk stockings, silk underwear, or silk cravats luxuries? Possibly. To the Japanese who raises or deals in silk, silk is a commodity, and America is his best customer. He knows that its sale will bring money into Japan that will in turn create a demand for the products of American steel mills, or will lead great square timbers on many steamers in harbors of our Pacific northwest for the saw mills in Japan and the Orient. He knows that when more silk stockings are worn in America that more motion pictures will be sent from Hollywood to Tokio for distribution.

Before doing that, I should ask this question: Do his present investments include any short term issues? If so, he probably already has a bond on which he can readily realize the cash he needs. Of course, on the other hand, if his $10,000 is now invested entirely in bonds of medium or long maturity, say from five years to thirty years, then the ideal investment for his $10,000 might well be a high grade bond which will mature at about the time when he will need the cash, or in other words, in about two years.

This investor's question brings up a point that is much more fundamental than his possible need of funds two years from now; and that is, the necessity of having an investment program well balanced and diversified from the standpoint of maturities. This is something which every investor should bear in mind very carefully. This investor knows that for some particular purpose he may need cash two years from now, but he, like every other investor, should always consider the possibility that he may require cash from some of his securities on short notice at almost any time, perhaps tomorrow, perhaps not for six months and possibly not for several years. His maturities, therefore, should be spread over a period of years, with the greater part in short or in long term issues according to his own probable requirements.

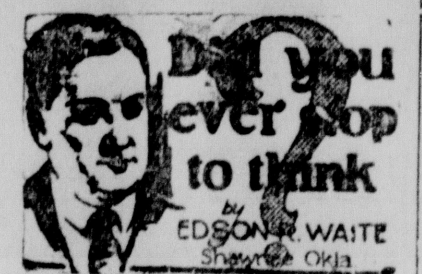

I will cover some additional points of interest on this subject in the next article.

increase in ability to buy more such "luxuries."

The business of life is profit, whether we sell apples on the street corner or direct the destinies of a great corporation. There are certain necessities which we must have to sustain life, and the range of these bare necessities, as I have said, is remarkably small. However, we never achieve more than these bare necessities unless we strive for something better.

Paul Block, one of America's best known newspaper publishers says: THAT in the late summer and early fall of 1929 the country was rapidly sliding into the depths of business depression. But its citizens were happy and confident, looking forward to indefinite continuance of boom prosperity. They did not know the depression had arrived. It required the dramatic crash in the stock market to make them realize it.

Today the depression has run its course, but the average individual is just as slow to note the encouraging signs in the fundamentals of our economic situation as he was to appreciate the previous decline. His caution is increased by the fact that the temporary interruption of the major down-trend last spring was mistaken in many quarters for real recovery.

There will be no dramatic event to make us realize that better times are here again as there was to show us that bad times had come. No skyrocket stock market boom is likely—or desirable.

But for some weeks past we have been moving toward higher levels of national prosperity. Since the latter part of November, car loadings have increased 60,000 a week. Automobile production has jumped by some 45 per cent. Daily building contracts have increased 90 per cent. Steel operations show a gain of approximately 25 per cent. These things are reliable yardsticks to measure business activity.

Under the caption "We Are Climbing With Tears in Our Eyes," the Dry Goods Economist urges a more cheerful national psychology. An interesting chart accompanies the article which shows a steady rise ever since November. Some lines of business activity may not have benefited by it as yet, but they were among the last to feel the depression. It takes time for the improvement to be reflected all through our business structure. The important thing is that the conditions requisite for improvement have been fulfilled, and the trend is definitely upward.

Advertising has done its share toward this business improvement, because a close check-up has proven that in nearly every instance where a substantial amount of advertising has been continued by the manufacturer or merchant, the results have helped substantially to improve that particular concern's sales and profits.

Your Home GARDEN

This is the tenth of a series of articles on home gardening, written especially for NEA Service and The Evening Telegraph.

By WILLIAM R. BEATTIE

Water for your garden is just as important as good soil and seeds. There may be too much water in some cases, and too much water is usually more of a handicap than too little water. For best results we should have just the right amount of water in our garden soil.

It is easy to carry a few pails of water from the spring or well for the purpose of "watering in" a row of cabbage or tomato plants, but when it comes to supplying tons and tons of water to quench the thirst of a patch of sweet corn or cabbage, that's another problem.

Many Ways to Get Water
In the east there are three important systems of distributing water to the crops. These are the overhead sprinkler system employing lines of pipe mounted on posts and having numerous small nozzles the full length of the pipes to distribute the water; the furrow or flooding system by which the water is allowed to run in small furrows or trenches along the rows of plants; and the underground or sub-irrigation system.

Where the land is comparatively level or only slightly sloping, the furrow method is highly satisfactory. The grower and exporter in Japan, and to the silkworm knitter or weaver, wherever his factory in the United States, silk stockings, silk underwear, and silk cravats are necessary to the operation of their plants, and the fattening of their profits and payrolls.

When you and I succumb to the lure of the show window, or an engaging clerk, and purchase more lavishly than we had intended, we have not done ourselves or society a wrong in our burst of extravagance. Quite the contrary, we have given an extra impulse to our material progress—our own as well as our neighbors. We have cast our bread of civilized purchasing power upon the waters of distribution, with the assurance that it will return to us eventually as an

Some folks are just like an ole weather beaten circus—they look five thousand times better at night. What I'd like to see is a child callin' contest in a dressin' jacket neighborhood.

Little furrows are opened alongside the rows of plants with the corner of a hoe or with a little hand garden plow and the water is simply allowed to flow freely in these furrows until the plants have had a good drink.

After the water has settled away the soil is returned to the furrows and cultivated.

Underground System
Subirrigation, or underground irrigation, is adapted for use only where the subsoil is of such nature that the water will not readily waste through it. The usual method is to lay lines of open-joint tiles a little below the depth of plowing, the lines being spaced four to eight feet apart.

The tiles are laid practically level or they might be given a fall of about four inches in 100 feet and used as drains during wet weather. In that case the lower ends of the tiles open into a ditch and are plugged when the tiles are used for irrigation.

In operation the water is admitted at one end of the tiles, usually the upper end, and escapes through the joints into the soil.

How to Water Plants
Rules for watering garden crops are rather simple. However, there are a few points that must be observed.

Frequent light sprinklings of the surface of the soil in dry weather will cause the roots of the plants to develop near the surface. This results in shallow-rooted plants that will die in case the frequent sprinkling is discontinued.

The proper method is to give the plants a good watering once every five to ten days in dry weather, the frequency of watering being determined by the character of the soil. Sandy loose soils require watering oftener than the heavier loam soils. Enough water should be applied to soak the soil to a depth of three or four inches, or about the same as would result from a good rain.

Another point—keep an eye on the weather and don't water heavily when rain is threatening.

Daily Health Talk

In 1825, man's expectancy of life was 35 years. In the period of 100 years this expectancy has increased by 20 years, so that a child born today may reasonably expect to reach the age of 55.

The life expectancy after reaching the age of 50 one hundred years ago was for 21 additional years, whereas today the life expectancy after reaching 50 is 21.1 years. If additional life expectancy is to be accomplished after middle age, it will have to come by overcoming the hazards of early heart disease, high blood pressure and other degenerative diseases. Such control must come through the periodic physical examination.

In the period from 1906 to 1921, there was an increase in expectation of life of about 14 per cent, the improvement being mostly in the earlier years of life. A child born in the United States has an expectancy at birth of 55.58 years if a male, and 57.73 years if a female. For England the figures are 55.62 for the male and 59.58 for female.

A person does not inherit any particular tendency to longevity, but does inherit a type of body or constitution which enables him to survive better than does the average man. In 1500 cases in which the age at death was known of both the individuals and of their parents, it was found that 5.3 per cent lived to the age of 80 when neither parent reached that age; 9.8 lived to 80 when one parent reached that age, and 20.6 lived to 80 when both parents reached that age.

The figures indicate that expectation of life among wage earners in the United States in 1928 was 56.42 at birth, whereas in 1911 it was 46.63. Out of 3,000,000 deaths, in the experience of a great life insurance company, only 30 people were found to have reached 100 years, of whom 20 were women and 10 were men.
